Gallery JSA (Joint Security Area), which recently opened in Midtown Manhattan, is holding a solo exhibition of artist Tae Kyu Yim, who has been gaining attraction in Asia.

Gallery JSA opened on the 20th in Manhattan (214 W 39th street New York 10018) close to the Times Square and Broadway, the central point of New York's culture and arts to promote Korean contemporary art.

Never Ending Stories exhibition will be held in two sections with 5 Korean artists who are active in Asia. The exhibition will be held from the 20th of November to the 15th of December. From January 12, 2019, Sung Won Kang, Young Mi Kim, Lee So, and Young Sook Hong will continue with the second part with their four-person exhibition.

The first opening exhibition is a solo exhibition by Tae Kyu Yim, who has been attracting attention as a promising artist in Asia, based in Beijing and Seoul. In his work, images of Kidults, an adult and childish character, frequently emerge. The artist fills the screen with free lines, shapes, and bright colors.
